LAKE SUPERIOR-THE REGION AROUND IT, AND THE COPPER MINES .- The completion of the canal around the Sault of St. Mary will, by opening the navigation of that vast lake (Superior), which is the largest of the great chain of lakes on our northern border, give new impulse and increased activity to trade and travel in hat direction. A steamboat of the largest class may now take freight and passengers through from Buffalo to Fond du Lac, at the extreme western end of Lake Superior, which is only sixty miles from the Mississippi river by a line drawn due west, and one hundred and twenty miles from St. Paul, the capital of Minnesota. In view of facilities afforded by the opening of this great northwestern lake to navigation by steamers, a very great number of people are expected to visit the lake and the country round about it, during the approaching summer. The speculator, the emigrant, and the man of elegant lessure will find these objects of interest to them. Vecant lands, copper mines, fine scenery, and good fishing are among the most attractive objects that invite thither the two classes of mankind, who either work or play. A trip up the Mississippi to St. Paul, thence by land to the lake at Fond du Lac, and then by steamers on the Lake to the Sault, touching at the various mines, thence by boat to Niagara Falls would be a most delightful excursion. It, however, might be found better to reverse the order and go to the Falls first, and then take a boat at Buffalo to Fond du Lac, and return via St. Paul, the Mississippi river to Galena, and by railway via Chicago to Louisville.

To the speculator the mines of copper that are in operation and others that are being opened on the lake shore must be a matter of great interest. The amount of copper that is obtained in that region is increasing steadily, and oubtless will continue to increase every year as additional facilities are offered for cheap mining, and for a full supply of provisions. Every article, such as tools, goods, and provisions, has heretofore been transported there at great expense, but which will in future be cheapened by the diminished cost of transportation. The copper intelligence this spring is that the mines prosecuted the past winter have generally turned out remarkably well, and at Ontonagon, the Mining News estimates that eleven hundred tons of copper, the product of the mines in that district the past winter, will be ready for shipment on the arrival of the first steamboat. This amount of copper, after making all reasonable deductions for waste, freight, &c., is worth about $334,000.

During the month of March, 115 tons of copper were raised at the Minnesota mine, and the directors have declared a dividened of $30 per share from the proceeds of the mine in 1854.-This is the second dividend of that amount, being in the aggregate $180,000. The celebrated Cliff mine has declared a dividend of $5 per share. We are not well informed as to the quality of soil adjacent to the lake, but presume poor and unfit for cultivation, but a little farther adapted to agriculture.

THE MILLERITES AND THE GENERAL CON-FLAGRATION .- If the proverb, that "hope deferred maketh the heart sick," expresses a truth, then indeed must the hearts of the Millerites be in a very diseased condition, for their hopes of being roasted alive by a general conflagration gether. have been again and again deferred, and for aught we know may have now been indefinitely postponed. Of this however we are not distinctly advised. All that we do know is that his paper; for, if he again call us one, we shall the burning up of the world and all things therein, which was, according to the Millerite programme, fixed for the 19th of May, did not come off, very much to the disappointment and chagrin of the managers of these extensive fireworks. We believe that the 19th of May was an adjourned day from the exhibition that had been promised us last year, and, as it has been found impracticable to get up this entertaining show at short notice, we suggest to the Miller troupe, whether it will not be best for them to put it off some twenty or thirty years. The effect of such an arrangement would be to prolong the agony and produce a pleasant glow of continued anxiety and excitement. It would be so pleasing to know that we stood a chance of dying peacefully in our bed before the time arrives for being roasted to death. Roasting may be a delightful way to die, but as at present informed we prefer some other way of "shuffling off this mortal coil."

The seventeenth ward police of New York, on Friday, arrested a large number of whalebone. men at the house of one James McLaughlin, who were engaged in witnessing a fight between two tokeep the peace.

We regret that we have of late heard so seldom from our old friend Mrs. D. How deep and wild is the beauty of these stanzas:

[For the Louisville Bulietin.] THOUGHTS AND MEMORIES. BY MES. A. L. RUTER DUFOUR.

In the twilight I am sitting Dreamily; O'er my soul are shadows flitting Mournfully; And the winds with at are sighing, While within dark shades are lying, And my restless heart keeps throbbing To the night-wind's sobblug, sobbing Plaintively!

Embers, on the hearth-stone lying, Fade away Emblems, to my spirit sighing,
Of decay,
Se hope's light is slowly flitting From my heart as thus I'm sitting,

And my louely spirit, roaming Loves to flee Through the past's uncertain gloaming Wild and free: Wild and free;
Oft smid her hours of sadness
Comes a music-tone of gladness;
Comes a thrill of joy's sweet measure, Echo of some loug lost pleasure.

O'er life's sea.

Ere my soul grew weary-hearted,
With dark eare, Ere the glorious wlngs of trust Had trailed earthward to the dust And the haleyon days were past O'er which love her halo cast Bright and fair.

Darker shadows now are lying On the floor, And the wind is sadly sighing: Through the door. Watching still the dying embers, Suddenly my soul remembers Suddenly my soul remembers A deep autumn sky at midnight, When the pale and gentle starlight Earth beamed o'er.

1 remember words then spokeu Soft and low, Vows, too, that have since been broken Long ago.
But the light has not yet faded
From the wreath that love theu braided,
Though within my heart are lying,
Hope's last embers, fading, dying, Pale and low

In the shadows thus I'm sitting. Sad and lone, Memories o'er my soul are flitting One by oue.
Lingers still one beauteur ray,
Of life's spring-time bright and gay;
Sadly falls a bitter tear
O'er the soul imprisoned here One by oue.

Oh, I would be free, be free, On, I would be free, be free,
Myspirit sighs,
As the winds that aweep the sea
Or storms the skies.
I would wander, night and day,
Where the brighter planet story Where the brightest plauets stay, And from each would ciaim a gem For my soul's own diadem And angel eyes,

Should admire their burning rays Of living light,
And my diadem should praise
So chaste and bright.
Theu I'd weave a crown for thee, Of such gems of poesy, That the tallest scraphim Would before its sight grow dim, And worship thee.

Then the cholcest throne above King should'st be, Aud thy sceptre should be love, Best fitting thee. Every spirit there should erave, As its joy, to be thy slave,
Every star should'st hasten down,
To be woven in thy crown:
An homage free.

. . . Spirlt mine, so wildly roaming, Far away, Cease to wander mid the gloaming, No more stray. Pray that hope to thee be given, Of a tranquil rest in heaven, Where no more with sorrow laden Souls dwell in that blessed aidenn, Dwell alway

The Evansville Enquirer says that "the editor of the Louisville Journal, true to his New England proclivities, is at heart an abolithat immediately around its border the land is tionist." Although the editor of the Enquirer is a violent partisan, we did not expect him to south, in Wisconsin, the soil is rich and well say anything so scandalous and so offensive to us politically and personally as this. Our readers can judge whether there is any abolitionism in our paper or not. The Louisville Journal has been more frequently and more violently assailed by the whole abolition press of the free States within the last few months than all the other journals of the South put to-

DUTIES UNDER THE CANADIAN RECIPROCITY TREATY.-The Montreal Gazette publishes a correspondence between the United States consul in that city and the board of trade of Canada, from which it appears that a duty of two and a half per cent. on the export value is charged for customs duty at that port on packages containing articles being the products of the United States which are admitted free under the reciprocity treaty. Articles from Canada imported into the United States, being free under said treaty, are exempt from any customs charge. The matter has attracted the attention of the Treasury Department at Washington. We should suppose the British Government will cease from its illiberal course so soon as the facts are officially represented to it.

Three whaling ships arrived at Boston on the 27th, with 5,630 barrels of oil and 64,000 pounds of whalebone. They had previously sent home 3,100 barrels of oil and 70,000 lbs.

The river was falling last evening with about 5 feet 4 inches water in the canal. From on Wednesday last. Fears were entertained bull-dogs. They were held to bail in $300 each the quantity of rain which fell last night, we that the growing crops of corn and cotton in can surely predict a rise.

THE WASHINGTON UNION AND THE MORmons .- A recent original communication on the Mormons, in the Washington Union, published, no doubt, with the advice and consent of the Administration, expresses the following just opinions of the community at the Great Salt

The case of the Mormons may serve further to illustrate our idea of the rights of conscience. Without questioning their right to believe in the Divine mission of Joe Smith or Brigham Young, or to have as many wives and concubines as King Solomon or the Grand Turk, we certainly do deny their right, as members of this confederation, to set up the inspirations of their prophet in opposition to the constitutional powers of the President of the United States or any other heaven of the government. Nor do we think branch of the government. Nor do we think their privileges extend to a violation of those laws and institutions which are the basis of our manners, habits, and morals. Polygamy, how-ever sanctioned by the example of the patri-archs, is a criminal offense in every State of the Union, and a community in which every man may have as many wives as he pleases can no more assimilate with those who admit of but one than if it sanctioned the commission of murder or any other crime against the laws of nature

Coming at length to the main question, the writer further informs us that-

As might be expected, since they became ter-ritorial members of the Union, they have placed themselves in direct opposition to the legitimate authority of the government of the United States by rejecting its officers and refusing to recogprophet. In this, we think very unfortunately, they were humored by Mr. Fillmore, who conferred on B. Young the office of civil Governor in addition to that far higher station he held as the oracle of the Divine will. Thus Governor Brigham Young now combines in his person the sanctity of a representative of the Divinity and the temporal authority of an officer of the gov-ernment of the United States. The association is supremely absurd, if not absolutely blasphe-

The N. Y. Herald copies this and asks whether Pierce has done any better than Fillmore did. That paper says: "As we understand it, the officers sent out by Mr. Pierce, at least the Governor, has declined in favor of Brigham Young, and we are not informed whether it is the intention of Mr. Pierce further to interfere with the authority of the great polygamist or not. The time has fully come, we apprehend, for the breaking up of this nest of the unclean birds of oblige us and the public at large by informing us what this administration has done, and what it proposes to do, to abolish the nuisance?"

CRIM. CON. IN HIGH LIFE.-Under this heading the N. O. Crescent tells the following: A young man, married about two years, engaged a music teacher for his wife. For a time all went on well, but finally the husband became expected, he met his wife, vainly endeavoring to ster? hide an unusual confusion-and in the bedchamber found the hat, coat, and boots of the teacher, but no sign of the teacher himself. The unlucky husband was satisfied. He went deliberately to a neighboring store, purchased a cowhide, and returning to his faithless spouse, gave her a most terrible flagelation, after which' he packed up his duds and left the city in disgust for his plantation.

OAKLAND RACES .- We have not found time to attend the races, but a sporting friend has politely furnished us with the result vesterday. The first race, one mile and repeat, was won by Harper's Ellen Swigert, by Bulwer, in two striaght heats. Time, 1:511-1:52.

The second race, two miles and repeat, was won by Campbell's Wagner filly in two straight theats. Time, 3:35\(\frac{1}{2}\)—1:06\(\frac{1}{2}\). The track was gives us the following: Aboard of the train heats. Time, $3:35\frac{1}{4}-4:06\frac{1}{4}$. very heavy in the last heat.

Two races take place to-day. See advertise

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS .- At the session of the General Council last evening a variety of business was presented by Mayor Barbee.

The printing ordinance was again taken up and passed to publish the proceedings of the Council in two papers, An ordinance was passed to collect railroad

A resolution was adopted to repair the hooks and ladders.

An ordinance allowing the watchmen $2 passed both boards.

FIRE.—About 5 o'clock last evening some varnish in the second story of the liquor store of Messrs. Barbaroux & Co., on Third street, between Main and Market, took fire. The neighbors rushed in and had nearly extinguished the fire when the engines got there. The fire companies threw an immense quantity of water in the house. The damage is several hundred dollars, mostly from the water.

JEFFERSONVILLE RAILROAD .- The directory had five ballotings vesterday without effecting a choice. The vote on each ballot stood: For Mr. Zulauf 6, scattering 5. Mr. Guthrie, one the road has prospered.

VIRGINIA .- There appears to be but little doubt that Mr. Wise will have ten thousand majority in Virginia. "Little Tennessee" has given him 3,100, which is a large gain upon the majority given for General Pierce. Accomac county, in which Mr. Wise resides, gives Flournoy a majority of 110.

There was a terrific storm, accompanied by thunder, lightning, and hail, in Augusta, Ga. that vicinity have suffered.

FAMINE IN RANDOLPH COUNTY, ALA.-A Touching Appeal .- The Montgomery Advertiser contains a letter from Randolph county, addressed to Gov. Winston, by a committee appointed at a public meeting of citizens of that county, and appealing, in simple but touching language, for relief.

The letter states that, "in consequence of a three years' drought, we are now reduced to the point (many of us) of extreme want; and that some of the citizens-indeed many of themof this Commonwealth are actually perishing for food, to say nothing of the probability of a short wheat crop, in which event our condition is still more deplorable." Says the address:

We can conceive of no better plan for the alleviation of our sufferings than to lay the matter before our Chief Magistrate. Our minds revert with pleasing reflections to the charity of the people of our State when the cholera was raging in New Orleans and Mobile three years ago; and believing that our condition at this juncture is, in every respect, as deplorable as theirs (the sufferers), we hope that it is only necessary to advise them of our wants to elicit the same charitable donations so lavishly bestowed on that occasion by the citizens of Montgomery as well as Selma and Mobile.

Some of our neighbors have suggested the propriety of the loan of funds from the bank at Mongomery, to enable us to buy provisions, &c., while others think, as do the present committee, that that would hardly meet our necessities. True, we could buy corn if we had the money and knew who had it to sell, but, dear sir, the corn is not in all this country to spare; for those who did have a little to dispose of have long since disposed of it.

We want something to eat, and we want it now. We would be willing to go anywhere for it, with any reasonable probability of finding an Egypt.

Could the merchants or grocers at Montgomery, Selma, or Mobile do anything for us in the way of provisions—meal, meat, molasses, or anything of the kind—we would thankfully, and with grateful acknowledgements, receive it, and send forthwith after it.

· The address is signed by C. S. Reeves, Eld. P. Reeves, B. McCullough, Walter Owens, N. P. Reeves, W. H. Grogan, committee, and by Harris Stephens and Wm. Ingraham, Secretary and President of the meeting.

Gov. Winston being without power to donate funds of the State for relief purposes, submits the statement to the generosity of the public.

The Mississippi papers have an account Mormondom. Will the Washington Union of a horrible fight between two men named Henry Shepherd and Frank Wilder, near Pittsboro' in that State. Guns, pistols, and knive were used. Neither of the combatants was killed. Wilder was dangerously wounded and ble to find any one who could, or would, testify Shepherd slightly.

A RAILROAD CONDUCTOR .- The following is from the Cincinnati Commercial. The traveling would has never known a better railroad conductor or a finer fellow than our friend Woodall:

A friend traveling on Conductor Woodall's was a young married couple, with that dear, but sometimes troublesome little pledge of affection, a young baby. The little one was sorely afflicted, and cried—such crying as only mothers have heard Pa took the little one—returned it to ma; took it again and again, but it cried so that a kind lady sitting by our friend suggested spasms, and furnished "Godfrey's Cordial."
"Twas no go—the baby only cried the more, through miles of road. All were anxious about the little babe; ma was most in despair, when Conductor Woodall appeared with a nice tin cup, with something smoking hot within; the baby took a little, smiled, and sleep soon followed. Ma looked truly grateful, papa thanked him, and the passengers resumed their ordinary appearance. "What was it Woodall did?" says appearance. one. Another says, "When the train stopped he got off and got some 'catnip,' went to the gine, got some hot water from the boiler, and with a little sugar, furnished the babe with that sovereign remedy, 'catnip tea.'" Hurrah for Conductor Woodall—a man who can appre-ciate and attend to the wants of all his passengers, no matter how small.

We know nothing about this matter. We give it as we find it in the New Albany Tribune. The Ledger makes no mention of it whatever.

Fighting at Mcoresville .- A difficulty occur-Mooresville, six miles south of this place, of which we have refrained from speaking, as we desired to learn the exact facts in the case. From all accounts we believe the following to be a true statement. On Sunday a large num-ber of Germans from Louisville, some thirty or Mr. Zulauf 6, scattering 5. Mr. Guthrie, one of the directors, was not present. Mr. Zulauf planted there a red ftag, with a cross over it. They were armed with gnns, pistols, and spears, and behaved in a manner that little suited some of the inhabitants of the neighborhood. Some twelve or fifteen Americans, becoming exasperated at the acts of the Germans, "pitched into" them, and, after considerable hard fighting run them from the ground. The flag and a considerable portion of the weapons of the Germans were captured, and are now in possession of the victors. These have been a long time in the habit of coming from Louisville to this side of the river to feast, frolic, and riot on the Sab-bath, and it is about time that their hebdomadal visits were stopped. We are not sufficiently acquainted with the facts to express an opinion whether the Americans at Mooresville were justifiable in their course, but we suppose they only acted as all true Protestant Americans would have done under similar circumstances.

NEWS ITEMS.

The assessor's returns for the city of Cincinnati show a large decrease in the value of personal property, the total this year being $16,462,063, against $18,556,166 last year. The decrease is mainly confined to bankers and brokers. Moneys and credits show an increase of over a million dollars.

For their proposed new plan of operations, the allies are said to now have in the Crimea a total of 143,000 infantry and artillery, and 7,500 cavalry, and Russia 120,000 infantry and artillery, and 20,000 cavalry.

Remarkable Suicide .- A boy named Slaughter, aged about 15 years, living six miles from town, hung himself on Wednesday last. On returning from the field where he was ploughing, he hung himself with the plow lines on a tree. We have heard no cause assigned. Is it not passing strange that one so young should pine over some secret anguish that at last made the tomb of the suicide a welcome relief from its tortures?

Princeton Kentuckian THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT AND THE GRAND JURY .- We yesterday declared our disbelief of the truth of a statement made by the editors of the Democrat, that a witness who recently appeared before the grand jury to testify as to what he had seen was told in substance, as soon as he commenced his statement, that they did not want to hear anything on the subject. The informant of the editors evidently intended to gull them or else he misunderstood what the jurors said to him. Be this as it may, we now present to the public the following authoritative denial by the foreman of the jury of the charge made against the grand jury by the editors of the Democrat and their informant.

. We learn that the grand jury have been zealous and untiring in their efforts to trace out the offenders who were engaged in the election fiots, and also those concerned in the Hook and Ladder outrage, but that it has been found impossito the identity of any person concerned in either of those outrages:

THE AMERICAN CONSUL AT CORK ON IRISH PAUPER EMIGRATION .- H. Keenan, Esq., U. S. Consul at Cork, Ireland, writes to Mayor Wood of New York, under date of May 9th, as fol-

The emigration or transportation of passengers and convicts from fore gn countries to the United States is worthy of serious attention. I shall not fall to cooperate with you and our authorities in this matter as you suggest. It strikes me an effectual stop can be put te this unjust system if Congress, in its contemplated law, will require of emigrants or passengers a certificate from the nearest United States Consul to their European residence, of their not being paupers or convicts, but able-bodied, respectable persons, capable of maintaining themselves. This could be accomplished with little trouble and expense to the emigrant by submission to examination by the Consul.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 1, 1855.

NEW OCEAN STEAMERS .- The steamship Arago, for the New York and Havre line, made a trial trip from New York on Saturday and performed remarkably well. She is propelled by oscillating engines. The distance ran per hour was about 13 knots, equal to 15 statute miles, with a pressure of about 25 pounds of steam to the square inch, the engine making 15 turns per minute. Her principal dimensions are 300 feet on the upper deck, 292 feet between inches over all, 311 feet whole depth, with 4 3,200 carpenter's measurement. She has watertight bulkheads, by which she is divided into several compartments. The consort of the Arago, which is to be named the Fulton, is now on the stocks in New York.

A steamer for the Collins line, to be called the Adriatic, is being built at the same port by Geo. Steers.

Wadsworth, of Hartford, at Michigan City, to return the same to the office for cancelation on or before the 15th day of July next that the outstanding circulation may be determined as accurately as possible and a pro rata dividend thereon declared. Certificates for the amount returned will be issued, and the dividend on the respective banks paid upon the presentation of the certificates at the Auditor's office after the 15th of August next.

"Tom Thumb," well known as one of Barnum's proteges, was married at Webster on Thursday last, to a Miss Vinton, of Bridgeport Ct. An attempt (very sensible, we think) was made to keep the vulgar fact from the public, but somehow it leaked out through some of the company .- Boston Traveler.

We don't see anything vulgar in the announcement. We have no doubt that Tom, notwithstanding his diminutiveness, will prove himself every inch a man.

CROAKERS .- Flour and wheat are declining, and immediately the speculators commence circulating reports of damages to the wheat crop by heavy rains, the appearance of the fly and the chinchbug, and other causes. We believe, from all we can learn, that the wheat crop will be the largest ever gathered in the country. In the Southern States a sufficiency of corn has been planted this season for their own consump tion should it turn out well.

Colonel Hodges, of the Commonwealth, who accompanied Gov. Powell on his recent visit to Indianapolis, gives a glowing account of the manner in which Gov. P. and company were entertained by Gov. Wright and lady and the citizens of Indianapolis. He also speaks of the flourishing condition of the State institutions there, the schools, the beauty of the daughters of Indiana, &c. Among the distinguished persons present was Miss Murray, an English lady of rank and fashion. The Commonwealth says:

A remark made at Gov. Wright's table, be-fore a large company, by Miss Murray, the Eng-lish lady of rank already mentioned, who is traveling in this country for pleasure and obser-vation, deserves to be reported in justice to her Miss M. said that she had now been in this country long enough and had ob-served enough to know that Mrs. Stowe had, in her "Uncle Tom's Cabin," done great injustice to the people of the Southern States, and that the impression her book had made in England was far from the truth. Miss M. had (she said) visited many plantations in South Carolina and elsewhere, and she knew from her own observation, that the impression Mrs. Stowe gave of the general treatment of the slaves was true; but that, on the contrary, she found them everywhere comfortably fed, clothed, and housed, and in a great deal better condition, in all these respects, than the laboring poor or European countries

We understand that Miss M. was urged to visit Kentucky, and especially Frankfort, but we did not learn whether she yielded to the in-vitation. We hope she will come. She ought not to go home without seeing the land of Boone OUTRAGE. - We learn that Dr. Wm. Davidson, a distinguished physician and a much respected, amiable gentleman of Madison, was grossly insulted and forced to leave Carrollton, Ky, yesterd sy, in a skiff, cross the river, and walk to Capt. Armstrong's farm, where he got on the mailboat for this city.

Dr. Davidson was at Carrollton a witness in the case of the State of Kentucky against a negro man charged with having assisted the slaves of Gittagrafa was away. The State faither the way away. of Gitner to run away. The State failed to make a case against the negro; he was discharged without hearing a word of the testimony of Dr. Davidson, who had not said a word in regard to slavery while in Carrollton; yet he was driven from the town by a number of men, as before stated.

Such a material on the part of our neighbors is insufferable, and will not be borne quietly by the people of Indiana. A few repetitions of this offense will be d to driving Kentuckians from this side of 'he over, and then the shipment of rifles and revolvers, as in Kansas, from the manufactories E. will be quite common.

A LETTER FROM HON. DANIEL D. BARNARD ON THE PROHIBITORY ACT .- A letter has been written by Hon. Daniel D. Barnard, of Albany, N. Y., on the Prohibitory Act passed by the last Legislature. Mr. B. expresses the opinion at the outset that the law cannot be sustained, and says it ought not to be sustained:

Nobody ought to desire the success of any great measure of benevolence or of reform which sets out with the violation of principles which lie at the very foundation of human rights and of free government. I think this act does exactly that. It commits a great and grievous wrong; a wrong, which, if the like could be committed by one individual upon othperpendiculars, 40 feet 4 inches beam, 67 feet 6 er individuals, the law would be prompt and severe to redress and punish. A society or gov-ernment have no moral or legal dispensation to decks. By register the ship is 2,260 tons, and perfetrate a great wrong more than private per-

The vice of this act is that it proposes to inaugurate its great scheme of benevolence by the sacrifice of an immense amount of private property. Whether this is five millions or forty, it is not material to inquire. That the amount falling within the operation, direct or indirect of the act must necessarily be very great, nobody can doubt. If the jurisdiction of the State over the subject matter had been as broad and unrestricted as the will of the Legislature, the sacrifice would have been greater. The policy of the act, if it could be sustained, and be taken as an established precedent, would not leave a dol-lar of private property in the State, of any de-scription, real or personal, safe from the rapacity or the fanaticism of any dominant faction in the government.

The letter is mainly devoted to an argument showing that the act is at war with the rights secured to the citizen in his property.

BOOT AND SHOEMAKING BY MACHINERY.

I perceive, by notices in the daily press, that some French gentlemen are about to commence the manufacture of boots and shoes by means of machinery that will perform the work in an incredibly short space of time, it being only necessary to place the sole and upper leather in the machine in order to its turning out a finished

I can have no doubt of the fact as stated, and lonly marvel that those "French gentlemen" did not pursue their inquiries a little further and so perfect their "machine" before obtaining a patent that it should tie up, invoice, pack, and ship to order a dozen pairs of their highly fin ished boots and shoes to each editor who has given currency to another new humbug. But, gentl men of the press, not to be outdone by the "French gentlemen," I wish to announce that I have perfected a ladies' dressing machine, by which a vast amount of stitching and fidg-eling is avoided altogether and a fine lady may be rigged out in an incredibly brief space of time. A lady has only to take my machine in hand, walk into a fashionable dry-goods house, put her cye and strong wish upon the style of silk "wherewith she would be clothed"—presto! pass! down dustum and be gone! a marvellously fine diessed lady, compared with whom Solomon in all his glory would have been but a merry-andrew.

I propose to exhibit this machine at an early day, and I ask newspaper publishers through-out the land to speak well of it upon my author-ity, even before a trial of its capability to per-form all I claim for it, seeing that, if it should prove a failure, they will only, have given cur-rency to another HUMBUG.

N. B. Several junior and local editors will be admitted to a private exhibition of my ma-chine before a public trial is made of it.

THE MASSACHUSETTS PERSONAL LIBERTY Bill.—An act, in twenty-three sections, passed by the late Legislature of Massachusetts, is now published. Its provisions are:

1. That every alleged fugitive from slavery shall be entitled to the habeas corpus and to tri-

2. It any person shall attempt to remove, or assist in removing an alleged fugitive, who shall not be proved to be a fugitive, he shall be punished by a fine of not less than one thousand nor more than five thousand dollars, and by imprisonment for not less than one nor more than five years.

3. No State officer shall issue a warrant, grant a certificate, or in any way act under the Fugitive Slave law, under the penalty of losing his office and being forever thereafter ineligible to any office of trust or emolument of the Commonwealth. And every person who holds a federal office, which even qualifies him thus to act in the return of a fugitive, shall not be allowed to hold any State office. This is a direct require-

4. Any Massachusetts lawyer who shall appear in behalf of the claimant of the alleged lave shall be deemed to have resigned any office or commission that he may hold under the Commonwealth, and shall be incapacitated from thereafter appearing as counsel or attorney in the courts of the Commonwealth. The deprivation of State commissions is a severe penalty on the legal profession, inasmuch as almost every Massachusetts lawyer is now a justice of

5. Sheriffs, jailors, and constables are forbidden to assist in returning the fugitive, under penalty of imprisonment for not less than one nor more than two years, and a fine of not less than one thousand nor more than two thou-and dollars. The same penalty is adjudged to the volunteer militia of the Commonwealth, if convicted of the offence.

6 The Governor shall appoint one or mor commissioners in each county, for the especial protection of the alleged fugitive, who shall take care that he has all the privileges secured to him by the present act. All the expenses in such proc edings necessary for the defense of the fugitive shall be paid from the State trea-

7. No jail, or other place of confinement belonging to Massachusetts, shall be used for the imprisonment of the alleged fugitive, or of any person charged with resisting the execution of the fugitive slaw law, or of any person ar-rested on execution in any suit for damages, accruing in consequence of aid given to an escaping fugitive.

The principal writers, says the Court Journal in the London Times at present (under Mr. De-lane). are the Rev. Thomas Mosley; Mr. Sampwho succeeded Mr. Alsager as son, who succeeded Mr. Alsager as writer of the city articles; Mr. Robert Law, the M. P. from kidderminster, who has charge of the colonial subject; Mr. Thornton, who writes the Parliamentary summary; Tyas, "much renowned for Greek;" Ma donald (who was sent to Constantinople with the funds for the sick); Ward, a "Quarterly Reviewer;" John Oxenford, the dramatic critic; Davison, the musical critic; and Dr. Richardson. The manager of the Times, now for several years past—and really more of the editor than Mr. Delane himself—is Mr. Mowbray Morris, a barrister.

Ahead of New York.—The number of vessels arrived at this portl n two days of last week was one hundred and twenty, while at N. York the number of arrivals during the same two days was only one hundred and two. Chicago Democratic Press.

We copy the following from the New York Tribune of Tuesday last:

The steamship United States was to have sailed yesterday afternoon for Nicaragua, but was prevented by the presence of a formidable naval force in the East river to prevent her de-parture. The vessels engaged in the service are three steamers and a sloop-of-war. Early yes-terday afternoon, the steamer Corwin took her position nearly opposite the foot of Sixteenth Street, so as to guard the passage through Hell-Gate; the propeller City of Boston was stationed about opposite the foot of First street, and one of the revenue cutters cast anchor near the foot of Grand street.

At noon to-day, the steamer Vixen came up abreast of the United States and anchored just off her dock at the foot of Eighth street, so that any attempt to escape would be frustrated at the outset. All through the last night steam was kept up and the Government steamers were for immediate service.

Our Reporter paid a visit to the United States this morning, when the officer of the deck informed him that the vessel had all of her coal on board, and was ready for sea. When she would sail or what cargo she would take out to Nicaragua he was unable to say. He was not aware that she was about to sail on Monday afternoon. He was the engineer of the United States and hail not yet received any orders.

On every other point he was a "Know-No

On every other point he was a "Know-Nothing." He did know one thing, however, that if his steamer got ten rods the start of the war steamers she would leave them so far behind in one hour that they would not know where Universal Exhibition at Paris .- The following notice has just been received by the Postmaster General from Monsieur Stourm, French Director General of Posts:

Notice to the Public-General Post-Office, Paris, France.—The public is informed that a post-office has been established at the Palace of Universal Exhibition at Paris, to during the continuance of the Exhibition.

Inhabitants of France and of foreign countries, lodging in the neighborhood of the Palace of Exhibition, or intending to pass the greater part of their time thereat, or such as do not know, at the time of their departure, in what part of the city they shall be lodged, may cause their letters to be addressed to the post-office of the Palace of Exhibition.

Such letters will be preserved in the office nd delivered to the persons addressed on sight of their passport or of any other document establishing their identity. They should be addressed-

Post-Office of the Palace of Universal Exhibition, Paris."

Letters addressed to the exhibitors themselves having establishments in the Palace of Exhibition will be delivered in the same manner, or will be taken by carriers to the place occupied by the exhibitor, if that place is mentioned in

At the post-office of the Palace of Exhibition the public will moreover be afforded the same facilities as in the other post-offices of France for the purchase of stamps, the transmission of money, &c.

MASSACHUSETTS .- The people of Massachusetts recently voted on the question of adopting or rejecting the amendments to the Constitution as they were originally adopted by the Legislature of last year and ratified by the Legislature of the present year. The returns render it certain that all the proposed amendments have been adopted by large majorities of the vote cast. The vote, however, was very light.

The amendments establish the plurality system in all elections—the election for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Senators and Representatives to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November—the election of eight Councillors by the people instead of by the Legislature—the election of Secretary, Treasurer, Receiver General, Auditor, and Attorney General by the people—the election of Sheriffs, Registers of Probate, Commissioners of Insolvency, Clerks of Courts, and District Attorneys by the people in such manner as the Legislature shall direct—and prohibit the application of the public moneys to the support of any other schools than those conducted under the superintendence of town or city authorities, nor the use of any religious sect for the mainten-ance, exclusively, of its own schools.

THE KANE EXPEDITION .- The N. Y. Mirror of Tuesday has the following:

The Release and Arctic, which are to sail in carch of Dr. Kane have been hauted ou', and are now anchored at the Navy Yard, ready sea—with officers and men all on board. ry Grinnell yesterday presented the officers of the expedition with a set of maps, charts, and notes of the Arctic discoveries up to 1854, which he had received by the last steamer from Cap-tain Inglefield and John Barrow, Secretary of the British Admiralty. At the request of Lady Franklin, who has given up her husband as dead, Mr. Grinnell has had a suitable marble tablet prepared, to be taken out by the expedi-tion, and erected at Becchy Island by the side of the stone erected to the mcmory of Lieut. Bellot. The tablet is inscribed to the memory of Sir John Franklin and his officers and com panions who perished with him.

THE U. S. EAST INDIA SQUADRON AND THE BRIG PORPOISE.—The navy department have advices from the Macedonian, Commodore Abbott, at Hong Kong on the 14th March. Nothing was said concerning the brig Porpoise.
The Boston Journal says:

A gentleman in this city who had a brother on board the Porpoise has received a letter from an officer of the U. S. ship Vincennes, which vessel was in company with the Porpoise when the latter was last seen, in Septemb-r, from which we make the following extract. The letter is dated Hong Kong, March 7:

My own impressions are, though it is possible and I may say the most general conclusion, that she has perished in a typhoon; to me there is also a probability that she may have been the victim of mutiny. My reasons for entertaining this are exclusively my own, ana, frightful and dreadful as it is, I cannot shut it out from my belief.

What gives more importance to this opinion is the fact that he went out as chief executive officer of the Porpoise, and was transferred to the Vincennes.

Death-Beds of the Aristocracy .- It was the remark of a celebrated London physician, who enjoyed the most lucrative practice, that he had witnessed such harrowing scenes at the deathbeds of the aristocracy that he shrunk with instinctive dread when called upon to visit persisted this clean in the interpretation. sons of this class in their sickness.

We are requested by Mr. Jas. Seabrook so say he will be in market to-morrow morning, between Fourth and Fifth streets, south side, where he can furnish the finest strawberries that have ever been offered. They are the Hovey Seedling, and some of them three to four inches in circumference.

Go and see the Wood & Christy Minstrels to-night. By their excellence, they have met with unrivalled success wherever they have been and are really worth a visit. To-morrow night is their last night

A member of the American Eagle Fire Co. requests us to say that that company was first at the fire yesterday evening, and ceased throwing water after the fire was put out.

Our old friend Bryant, who has been for some seven months incarcerated in the Henderson, ky., jail on a mere suspicion of attempting to entice away negroes, returned to his family yesterday, looking well and hearty. He has no doubt remained in jail nearly the whole time for want of a little of the right kind of assistance to obtain justice earlier. We learn that al-though no writ was issued in the case, or any charge of felony preferred against him, he was required to enter into a recognizance never more to come into the State. We can cede to our Kentucky neighbors the right to be as severe as justice will permit, in punishing any negro thief from a free State, but we can't help thinking they have given Mr. Bryant rather more than his part.—Evansville Joarnal.

SPAIN .- Advices from Madrid, of the 5th inct., confirm what has been stated before of the intrigues of persons around the throne to confirm the Queen in her reluctance to sign the law authorizing the sale of ecclesiastical property. In the midst of the sitting of the Cortes on the 5th, a deputy of the democratic party, Senor Garcia Lopez rose abruptly to ask the Ministry if it were true that the Queen had hesitated to sanction the law, and if she had been encouraged by the King in that resistance to the popular wish. Marshal O'Donnell, in reply, stated that the report was false as far as regarded their Mauerice but that there had been regarded their Majesties, but that there had been intrigues behind the throne, which it had been necessary to defeat. This reply calling forth some counter-cheers from the Right, in answer to those from the Left, the Marshal turned to-wards the side of the house, and added, "Yes, we are prepared for this; we know the immense responsibility we have assumed. We shall know how to place ourselves above the petty difficulties of detail, raised by men who form-erly trampled the laws of their country under

The following interesting account is taken from the Journal des Debats:

On the morning of Saturday, the 28th of April, two trains set out from Madrid during the same hour, bound to the royal residence of Aranjnez. One conveyed the Marshal Duke of Victoria, President of the Council of Ministers, to lay before the Queen the law voted on the previous evening by the Cortes, and thoroughly resolved not to return to Madrid without having resolved not to return to Madrid without having obtained the royal sanction. The other bore Moysignor Franchi, who went to communicate to Senor Luzuriaga the orders he had just received from the Holy See, and to demand his passports in case the law was confirmed. The Marshal had a conference with the Queen and another with the King, and the raised tone of his value rang in the care of the chamberlains. his voice rang in the ears of the chamberlains and other officers in attendance as they anxious-and other omcers in attendance as they anxions-ly awaited the termination of the interview.

The Queen had replied by a refusal. "I am bound to declare to you, madame," said the Marshal, "that your refusal may have the most fatal consequences for public peace and your own person. You know with what facility barricades are formed in the streets of Madrid. The population is already deeply irritated and discontented; they will soon carry things to extremities; and the Cortes, believe me, will not hesitate in coming to resolutions of the utmost energy." The Queen replied: "I reproach my-self for having consented to the presentation of this law, which troubles my conscience; for it is a violation of a treaty I made with the Pope, and I have resolved not to give it my sanction, since I am convinced that it will bring on Spain great misfortune." The Marshal then urged the great misfortune." The Marshal then urged the embarrassment which the refusal would cause to the Ministry, who would be so compromised that they would not be able to retain office. The Queen pleaded that they had found her docile even on most painful occasions, and that she could not believe they would abandon her in the situation they had her placed in and when she was without councillors or defenders. "Well. then, sign, madame," again insisted the Mar-shal. "No; I cannot consent to so great an iniquity."

The Marshal then repaired to the King, whom he reminded of the service he had rendered to the Queen and her throne since the re-volution. "I know not," said the King, "if it would not have been better to have lost the throne and the crown than to have preserved such as you have made them."

The Marshal, having effected nothing, returned to Madrid; and in the evening the ministers assembled, and decided that the resignation of her council cu masse should be laid before the Queen next morning, if she did not afford her sanction to the law. The next morning, therefore, all the Ministers were early at Aranjuez, and Marshal O'Donnell, having been the first to enter the Queen's apartment, said: "Madame, I fear that you deceive yourself as to your position. You do not seem to be aware that if you persist in your refusal, the Cortes will constitute itself into a National Convention. If you drive us to it, we shall re-nounce that constitutional royalty for which we have made so many sacrifices, and we will pro-claim a republic; Spain will not be the more un-fortunate. But we shall keep your daughter— your daughter, who belongs to the nation, and may serve as a hostage against you." These menaces, uttered with great energy by a man who does not always retain the mastery over himself, carried with them a dread into the mind of the Queen, and quelled her courage. Her spirit was exhausted, and she burst into tears. 'I hesitate no longer," she cried with grief. "I will do for my daughter what I would not do for myself. I will sign, if you promise not to take her away from me. But I protest with all my soul against your violence; and I hope that God will lay the responsibility of my weakness on your head, and on those of your colleagues al. dfriends." At this moment the Grand Chamber lain and the ladies of her Majesty were intreduced into the chamber, preceded by the Princess of Asturias, who threw herself into the arm s of her mother, while the rest threw themselves at her feet, entreating her to end the centest, and not to compromise the safety of sanctioned. Whilst this was passing at Aranjuez, Madrid was beginning to assume a revolutionary aspect. The garrison was confined to barracks; the streets were crowded; members of the Cortes known for their ultra-democratic opinions, irregularly assembled in one of the apartment their palace, were holding a sitting, in which measures of utter anarchy were being discussed. demanded a decree that should proclaim the throne vacant, and convoke a national conwention; so that, by a coincidence worthy of re-mark, the heads of the extreme parties of the Cortes were preluding to those acts at the very moment that Gen. O'Donnell was threatening the Queen with them. The commanders of the militia were agitating the same questions, and preparing to second whatever the Cortes might her throne and the fate of her dynasty by a longer resistance. Marshal O'Donnell again insistted—"Hasten, madame; your Ministers are tired of waiting." The Ministers entered; the Deputies forming the bureau of the Cortes accom-panied them; one of the Ministers placed a pen in the hands of the Queen, and the law was of waiting."

The Madrid correspondent of the London Times, writing on May 7th, says:

Mr. Perry, Secretary of the American Legation, has formally announced that his government accepts the arrangement proposed by the Spanish Cabinet in the affair of the Black Warrior. His note on the subject expresses. rior. His note on the subject expresses, in the name of the President of the United States, the most friendly sentiments, and the hope that the conclusion of the affair will draw closer the relations between the two countries. The Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs has intimated in the Cortes that other claims are pending.

THE Castle Builders, by the author of "Hearts' Ease," "The Heir of Redelife," &c. D. Appleton & Co. New York.

A simple but becatiful story, told in a simple and beautiful manner. The author studiously avoids all forced and unnatural incidents, and the equally fashionable affectation of extrawagant language. It is destined to great popularity among all classes of readers, for its sketches of life seem to us at once lively, apirited, pathetic, as well as graceful and vivid. All who read it will become interested in its fascinating page, and close its with the impression that it is a good book, and deserving of universal popularity.

Bachelors' attentions are particularly invited to this number,
They should not fail to road what Miss Bremer says about married men.

Reeder, are you a bachelor? If you are, remember marriage is the mother of the world, and preserves kiugdems and fills oftice and churches. Celibacy, like the fly in the heart of an apple, dwells in perpetual sweetness, but sits alone, and is confaced, and at last dies in singleness; but marriage, like tho nseful bea, bnilde a house and gathers sweetness from every dower. Come with me, my bachelor readers, "I have made up my mind to start." If you would be useful, hapmy, presperons, and honored, journey toward the land of wellock, and when circumstances are favorable, take some partner by the hand, enter its preciuets, and with so nabiding confidence and pure desire, "settle down" In the midste of its apringing delights, there to enjoy the sweets and marse the bables.
